SUMMARY:

EchoDitto seeks a talented Strategy Architect to join our growing team of technology enthusiasts, internet experts, and online campaigners.

This position will be responsible for developing innovative web-based strategies and tools for progressive online activism and community building. EchoDitto team members serve as guides to this evolving medium for non-profit organizations, corporations, celebrities, global institutions, and political organizations. The Strategy Architect position is an integral in building these online communities and helping our clients achieve remarkable results.

Specifically, the Strategy Architect will work directly with the company's partners to oversee the creation and execution of cutting-edge online campaigns, technical strategy, project management, and online community/grassroots outreach and promotion efforts.
